Explain :our project is to develop artistic activities in order to improve the social cohesion in villages.

The general objective of our project is to demonstrate that artistic practice can be a vector of social mediation. Our project aims to deploy in each territory involved an intervention methodology in territories requiring an improvement in social cohesion. Each artist will undertake a phase of observation, interviews with the inhabitants and will propose a performance (theater, painting or architecture) in connection with the local territory and the local context unfolding there. The performance will be introduced to the general public. The final aim is to contribute to establishing dialogue, communication and an expression of the needs of residents.

Starting from each local intervention, we will gather experiences at the consortium level in order to elaborate a common deliverable.

All local contexts can be integrated in the project !

For example, in Saint Malo territory the artistic intervention would focus on sustainable housing and new ways of living. In response to strong housing pressure, new forms of housing have appeared (tiny house, yurts, CLT programmes, intergenerational residences...). The idea through artistic creation would be to raise awareness of new forms of housing, sustainable living and to encourage the acceptance of residents.
